

MANIFEST

We aren't against screens, but we are for turning them off every now and then.

We aren't against the Internet and technology, but rather for connections that enrich life.

We aren't saying you need to unplug completely, but we'd like to remind you to stay in control.

And if you have a tendency to forget it, we're here to help you press pause and enjoy some screen-free time.

